

The Maine Journal Project - Prelaunch

Showcasing Exceptional Undergraduate Work at UMaine

THE MAINE JOURNAL

12

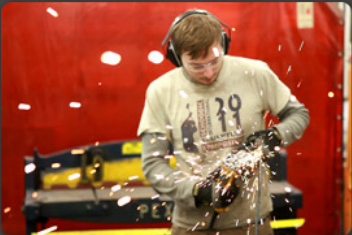

untitled
Lydia won first place in the poetry section of this year's Grady Awards... Read more...

Concertino for Clarinet Op. 26
Ben Cox takes us through his musical education. He shares... Read more...

Denise Bickford
Denise Bickford's collection of poems won her first place in this year's Grady Awards... Read more...

Matt Foster
Matt Foster talks to us about the inspiration for his sculpture work... Read more...

Michael St. Pierre
Michael St. Pierre gives us a tour of FSAE's construction of their Formula 1 Car...Read more...

Icarus in Transit
Samuel Lavoie won second place in this year's Grady awards for this piece... Read more...

What is The Maine Journal?

The Maine Journal is a periodic online publication dedicated to showcasing exceptional undergraduate work at The University of Maine.

Who is involved?

The Maine Journal is written, videotaped, photographed, coded, and designed completely by undergraduates working in a collaborative, team-based environment.

I would like to work on The Maine Journal, how can I get involved?

E-mail inquiries to Samuel Foster on First-class.

I would like to submit work for publication in The Maine Journal, how do I submit?

Submission guidelines for our Fall 2012 issue will be posted in early September 2012.

Check it out at <http://kenai.asap.um.maine.edu/mainejournal/>

Send feedback to Samuel Foster on Firstclass